

BACHELOR OF ARCHITECTURE (B.Arch.)

Term-End Examination

00265

December, 2014

BAR-015 : CULTURE AND BUILT FORMS – II

Time : 3 hours

Maximum Marks : 70

Note : Attempt any five questions. All questions carry equal marks.

1. The rational planning of Greek Civilization is a live example of the built-form relationship with human-nature principles. Kindly elaborate on the above. 14

2. "Assyrian Empire was a forerunner in the development of planning principles of West Asiatic Civilizations." Explain the statement with examples. 14

3. Write short notes on the following : 14
 - (a) City of Athens and its important built forms
 - (b) Grid Iron Pattern of planning in Indus Valley Civilization
 - (c) The Parthenon
 - (d) Vault Architecture of Roman Civilization

4. Explain with sketches, the recorded history and characteristics of Indus Valley Civilization. 14
 5. "The Man-Nature relations also explore to highlight the idea that "Architecture is a cultural construct." Explain with relevant examples. 14
 6. Explain with examples and neat sketches, how 'symbolism' is reflected in Japanese architecture. 14
 7. Discuss about the secular architecture in various parts of India up to 1000 AD. In this context explain how the environment and climate had influence on the built form and the building material used. 14
-